

Lilly
PE 8
.R56 L7
1989

Little Red Riding Mouse

An Animal Tales Pop Up Book

Lilly
PZ 8
•R56 L7
1989

Once upon a time there was a little mouse named Red Riding Mouse, who lived with her mother on the edge of the forest. One day she put on her best red cape and set off to take her sick grandma a basket of food.

On her way through the forest she met a cat. "Where are you going?" he asked her. "To visit my sick grandma," she replied. "Why don't you pick some flowers for her," the cat suggested. So Red Riding Mouse did.

Lilly
PZ 8
•R56
1989

Red Riding Mouse screamed and ran. A woodcutter was passing by and heard all the noise. He burst into the cottage, chased the wicked cat away, and rescued Red Riding Mouse and her Grandma. Red Riding Mouse never saw that nasty cat again. Nor did anyone else.

Animal Tales Pop-Up Books

Charming animal characters come alive in these clever versions of traditional fairy tales. Beautifully illustrated in three dimension with movement, Animal Tales will delight young and old readers alike. See all four titles in the series:

Mouse in Boots
Hamster and Gretel
Little Red Riding Mouse
Goldimouse and the Three Hares

————— 0 —————
Design and Paper Engineering by Keith Moseley
Illustration by Debbie Richardson

© 1989 by Compass Productions, Long Beach, CA 90802.
Published by Checkerboard Press, a division of Macmillan, Inc.
CHECKERBOARD PRESS and colophon are trademarks of Macmillan, Inc. Printed and hand assembled in Colombia,
S.A. by Carvajal.

ISBN 0-02-689095-X

CHECKERBOARD PRESS

NEW YORK

